

adds, “the not knowing? I mean, we’re continuously surrounded by experts telling us the names of everything all the time. But turn off the constant narration? Then you find that everywhere you look, you’re discovering things, and going into this zone where you’re seeing every single little thing that occurs. Like the behaviors of this fly. Or of ants.”

Overseer and HAA Director Candidates

THIS SPRING, alumni can vote—using either a new online balloting site or the traditional paper, mail-in, ballot—for new Harvard Overseers and Harvard Alumni Association (HAA) elected directors. Email notifications about the new electronic-voting option and website link were sent April 3, when the paper ballots were also mailed. Votes must be received by 5 P.M. EDT on May 21 to be counted. All holders of Harvard degrees, except Corporation members and officers of instruction and government, are entitled to vote for Overseer candidates. The election

Those “little things” are captured by his more than 500 photographs in National Geographic. He’s also given countless lectures and written 120 scientific journal and magazine articles chronicling his exploits and biological observations during the last 30 years. A few of those years were spent scaling the tallest trees in more than 40 countries to examine orchids, bats, orangutans, and other canopy-dwelling creatures for his first book, The High Frontier: Exploring the Tropical Rainforest Canopy (1993). Face to Face with Frogs (2008) also featured his photographs, as did the fascinating and critically acclaimed Adventures among Ants: A Global Safari with a Cast of Trillions (2010). Moffett built on that knowledge for his newest book, The Human Swarm: How Societies Arise, Thrive, and Fail
